Another way to see.

Inspired by Machiavelli’s pragmatic and strategic way of seeing reality beyond inherited moral and religious ideals, Maquiabella embraces a fresh perspective: clarity, intention and movement.

With Italian roots and a childhood in the apple orchards of Argentine Patagonia, she inherited her grandfather’s love of the land, music and good food. A champion artistic gymnast from age five, she spent more than a decade in gymnastics and ten years on Argentina’s national ice skating team.

An interview with Hernán Cattáneo while working as a mountain driver changed her relationship with electronic music. In 2019, after more than four months of stress-related vision loss, music became her refuge and purpose.

FOCUS / Giving landscapes a voice.

Created with her two children, FOCUS seeks out places with a story, giving thanks through sound. Selected destinations include Patagonia, Mendoza, Mallorca and the Bahá’í House of Worship in Sydney.
